ESSAYS AND STUDIES
ON THE TEACHING OF A SECOND LANGUAGE
ESSAYS AND STUDIES

ON THE TEACHING OF A SECOND LANGUAGE

EDITOR:
HARISON MOHD. SIDEK
HAZLINA ABDULLAH

Faculty of Major Language Studies
Universiti Sains Islam Malaysia
Bandar Baru Nilai
Negeri Sembilan
2012
ESSAYS AND STUDIES
ON THE TEACHING OF A SECOND LANGUAGE

CONTENT

Foreword vii

Preface ix

PART 1: ESSAYS ON THE TEACHING AND LEARNING OF A SECOND LANGUAGE 11

CHAPTER 1  EXTENSIVE READING AND L2 DEVELOPMENT 13
Harison Mohd. Sidek

CHAPTER 2  CD-ROM TITLED OF MICE & MEN’ AS A MEANS OF EXPOSING STUDENTS TO LITERARY APPRECIATION 31
Normazla Ahmad Mahir

CHAPTER 3  LEARNING STYLES + LEARNING STRATEGIES = AUTONOMOUS LEARNING 47
Noor Saazai Binti Mat Saad

CHAPTER 4  VALUES: A FUNCTION OF KNOWLEDGE AND LANGUAGE ACQUISITION 69
Harison Mohd Sidek & Normazla Ahmad Mahir

CHAPTER 5  SECOND LANGUAGE LITERACY: BRIDGING RESEARCH AND EDUCATIONAL PRACTICE 89
Harison Mohd Sidek
PART 2: STUDIES ON THE TEACHING AND LEARNING OF A SECOND LANGUAGE

CHAPTER 6  VOCABULARY LEARNING STRATEGIES EMPLOYED BY ESL LEARNERS AT A PUBLIC UNIVERSITY: AN ESP CONTEXT
Zarina Ashikin Zakaria

CHAPTER 7  ACADEMIC CONTROVERSY TECHNIQUE IN A LANGUAGE CLASSROOM: A MEANS TO DEVELOP SOCIALLY EFFECTIVE INDIVIDUALS
Suraini Mohd Ali & Dr Kirembwe Rashid Abdul Hamid

CHAPTER 8  EXPLORING INTERTEXTUALITY: AN APPROACH TO CRITICAL THINKING IN ESL CLASSROOM
Fariza Puteh Behak & Norhaili Massari

CHAPTER 9  A FLIRTATION WITH INPUT HYPOTHESIS
Harison Mohd. Sidek

CHAPTER 10  INCORPORATING SOFT SKILL IN THE BUSINESS ENGLISH COURSE: CHARMS AND CHALLENGES
Fariza Puteh Behak & Yurni Emilia Abdul Hamid

CHAPTER 11  YOUNG ADULT LITERATURE: READING HABITS
Harison Mohd. Sidek, Suhaili A. Jalil, Hafiza Abdullah, Azamima Razali

BIODATA OF AUTHORS
Acquiring a second language, particularly English, remains an important skill in the domains of education and workplace. In lieu of such importance, the area of English language teaching and learning has been the focus of much attention among second language practitioners and researchers. The book consists largely of articles and reports on various studies conducted on the teaching and learning of ESL. Thus, the ideas in this book might provide additional insights that may benefit stakeholders in the field of ESL instruction and research.

It seems that the writers share the enthusiasm and passion for the idea of this book’s publication. Submissions were received from lecturers within the faculty, which makes this publication a special one. It is our aim to create a publication that every reader would be able to take something from.

One of the benefits of a collection written by different authors is the huge variety of language issues being discussed. As such, this may enhance the development of new ideas, creativity and innovation in many different language areas. In addition, the book has applications to language teaching and learning in language research and instruction such as syllabus design, materials development, and many more.

With the success in the completion of this book project, I would like to personally thank the many writers who have submitted work for consideration. With the public rapidly turning again to the issue of teaching and learning English, it is reassuring to know that there is such a wealth of writers ready to satisfy this need. Most importantly, knowledge and experiences can be shared, captured and extended by reading this book. Thus, this is a book worth reading!

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DR. BHASAH ABU BAKAR
Dean
Faculty of Major Language Studies
Islamic Science University of Malaysia
This book provides a variety of perspectives in the teaching and learning of a second language (L2). The collection in this book is a combination of essays and reports on studies conducted on L2 learners. Thus, the book is divided into two main parts:

Part I presents essays on various areas of the teaching and learning of L2 such as extensive reading, literary appreciation, learning styles and strategies, the importance of values in language learning, and a general discussion on theory and practice in L2 reading.

Hence, this book may provide L2 practitioners with a wide range of additional knowledge and understanding in the teaching and learning of L2. Such knowledge and understanding may assist L2 practitioners in developing their thinking about how they may design and implement their instruction in many different, creative and effective ways.

Part II comprises reports on studies on the teaching and learning of L2. Among the areas examined by the studies reported in this book are extensive reading, vocabulary learning strategies, academic controversy technique, the roles of intertextuality in enhancing critical thinking, testing the viability of input hypothesis, soft skills and ESP as well as young adult literature.

Research findings from studies in Part II may contribute to the advancement of knowledge in L2 research, particularly within the Malaysian setting. The studies also brought about additional insights into potential areas of future research especially in English as L2, which areas can be further examined to help improve instructional practices.

HARISON MOHD SIDEK & HAZLINA ABDULLAH
REFERENCES

BIODATA OF AUTHORS

HARISON MOHD SIDEK is a lecturer at USIM, at the Faculty of Major Language Studies. She holds a Dip. Ed (TESL), M. Ed (TESL), M. Ed (Reading Education), and PhD in Foreign Language Education from the University of Pittsburgh.

RASHID ABDUL-HAMED KIREMBWE is a lecturer at the Faculty of Major Language Studies (FPBU), Islamic Science University of Malaysia. He holds a PhD in Education (Pedagogy) from Universiti Putra Malaysia (2004), M.H.Sc. Arabic as a Second Language from International Islamic University Uganda (1997), PGDE Arabic and Islamic Education from Islamic University In Uganda (1993), Diploma (Da’wah) from Islamic University of Madinah (1990), BA (Hons) Arabic and Islamic Syariah from Islamic University of Madinah (1990).

FARIZA PUTEH BEHAK is a lecturer at the Faculty of Major Language Studies at Islamic Science University of Malaysia. Her research interest is Multiliteracies in ESL Education. She is currently a doctoral student at the University of Southern Queensland.

NORHAILI MASSARI is a lecturer at the Faculty of Major Language Studies at Islamic Science University of Malaysia. Her research interest is post-colonial Literature. She is currently a doctoral student at the National University of Malaysia.

NORMAZLA AHMAD MAHIR is a lecturer at the Faculty of Major Language Studies at Islamic Science University of Malaysia. Her research interest is post-colonial feminism in Literature. She is currently a doctoral student at International Islamic University of Malaysia.
NOR SAAZAI MAT SAAD is a tutor at the Faculty of Major Language Studies at Islamic Science University of Malaysia. Her interest lies in the field of Second Language Acquisition, mainly learning style and learning strategies in material development for ESL.

SURAINI MOHD ALI is a lecturer at Faculty of Major Language Studies, Islamic Science University of Malaysia. Her research interests include ELT materials development and ESL teaching methodology. She is currently a doctoral student at La Trobe University.

YURNI EMILIA ABD HAMID is a tutor at the Faculty of Major Language Studies, Islamic Science University of Malaysia. Her research interest is Project-based Learning in ESL Education. She is currently a doctoral student at the National University of Malaysia.

ZARINA ASHIKIN ZAKARIA is a lecturer at the Faculty of Major Language Studies, Islamic Science University of Malaysia. Her areas of interest are Materials Development, ESP and Reading.

SUHAILI ABD. JALIL is an ESL teacher at the Center of General Studies, Islamic Science University of Malaysia. She has a Bachelor of Education (TESOL) and a Master in Education (TESL). She has experience in teaching ESL at various school levels.

AZAMIMA RAZALI holds M.Ed TESL University of Malaya and BEd TESOL (Hons.) University of Edinburgh. She has 11 years of teaching experience in Malaysian secondary schools. She is currently the Head of English Department at a public school in Selangor.